What are the SUCCESS CONDITIONS FOR AN EFFECTIVE REMOTE AUDIT?

KEY PREREQUISITES FOR AN EFFECTIVE AND EFFICIENT REMOTE AUDIT:

Document preparation: Make sure the documents are ready and available to be shared on the screen with the auditor. As an on-site visit is not possible, make sure all documents are accessible remotely and can be shared online.

ICT tool & good Connectivity: Make sure your network has enough bandwidth to support multiple connected people on the digital meeting with screen sharing. In case a specific room is needed for better connectivity assure its availability for audit time.

Team availability: As any certification audit, make sure all necessary people can access (and are invited) to the video conference and participate in the remote audit. People can connect anytime they need or are required to.

Security & confidentiality: Make sure you have a secured network with VPN (Virtual Private Network) system that can be used for connecting to the ICT system. Bureau Veritas auditors, on their side, will use BV VPN.

Time management: Remote audit requires specific time management compared to on-site audit. BV auditors will adapt their auditing program accordingly.

Which audits CAN BE DONE REMOTELY?

Majority of accreditation bodies³ agreed to authorize Remote Audits during the COVID-19 crisis to maintain certificate validity and business continuity. These authorizations are given using the IAF MD4/MD5 guidelines on how to conduct remote audits.

Standards like ISO 9001, 14001, 45001, 27001, 22001 are eligible for Remote Auditing. In most cases, 50% of normal audit content could be delivered remotely. Under specific circumstances, the audit can be done up to 100% remotely. These cases are concerning only specific industry codes; mostly when there is no "on-site" activity or manufacturing process involved and for surveillance audits for example.

We encourage you to contact your local Bureau Veritas Certification team to check if your standard is eligible for Remote Audit. You can also check with your country accreditation body or your sector-specific scheme owner if your standard can be remotely audited during COVID-19 lockdown.
